MIDWESTERN STATE UNIVERSITY along with our consortium partners, are proud to offer a study abroad program in London, England. Each year we arrange for students to study in the heart of one of the most exciting cities in the world. Undergraduate as well as graduate level courses are available.

ACADEMIC PROGRAM

Classes are small and include a mixture of lecture, guest lecture, field experience, and individual research. Research projects or papers will be completed upon return. Faculty from MSU Texas and consortium partners direct each class and are responsible for final grades. Credits are awarded by Midwestern State University and are transferred to your university. All classes are six-hour courses with three hours awarded for lecture and three hours for individual research.

Classes typically run Monday through Thursday. Attendance in class and class-related activities is mandatory. A mini-break during the session will allow you time to travel throughout England and Western Europe.

ACCOMODATIONS

You will be housed in a private room in a six-bedroom suite with a bathroom and kitchen on the Queen Mary University of London campus. University housing is within easy access to the West End Theatre District, Trafalgar Square, The National Gallery, and Piccadilly Circus. 24-hour security is provided on campus.

TRAVEL INFORMATION

Departing June 30 and returning August 1, 2022

All students and faculty will travel together from DFW, Denver, Charlotte, or Mobile depending on your location. Once in London, you will be met by representatives of the consortium and board coaches for the final journey into central London. While in London, individual travel will be facilitated by the consortium staff. It is recommended that you secure a credit card (with PIN number) to cover personal expenses. ATMs are conveniently located on the Queen Mary campus.

Important Documents

You must have a valid U.S. passport (or passport from your home country and valid travel VISA if you are an international student) All required forms will be emailed to you upon receipt of a deposit and fully completed application form. Be sure to APPLY EARLY!

2022 COURSE OPTIONS

Business – International Issues in Business

This course examines international issues in business. Components of marketing, management, accounting, finance, and economics will constitute the core of the lectures while each student will also complete a research paper with the topic decided upon by the student and professor of record. Guest lecturers from the European community and field trips to various British and E.U. points of interest will be included. Six credit hours: BUAD 4993 & 4993, or BUAD 5993 & 6663

Computer Science – Evolution of Computing & Cybersecurity

Modern day computing began during World War II and, unknown at the time, London was the hub of these developments. Even the initial work in coding and code breaking began here-breaking the secret German codes produced by the enigma. Students will examine the parallel developments in the U.K., U.S., and Germany in the 1940s to 1950s and continue into the present, including the evolving cybersecurity challenges faced by everyone in today's cyberspace. Field trips will include places such as Bletchley Park and the Alan Turing Exhibition at the Science Museum, along with guest speakers from security and law enforcement agencies. Six semester hours: CMPS 4883 & 4663, or Grad CMPS 5363 & 5443

Criminal Justice – Comparative Criminal Justice

This course examines the primary components of the criminal justice system within the U.K. It will examine the similarities and differences of other criminal justice systems including the United States and European countries. This class will look at the criminal justice system's responses to the historical, social, and political trends of the U.K. The course will include lectures and scheduled field trips focusing on the primary components of the criminal justice system. They will include trips to Parliament, law enforcement agencies, Magistrates Court, and Crown Courts. Six credit hours: CRJU 4253 & 4923, or CRJU 6313 & 6413

Education – Global Education

One of the most global cities in the world, London provides a unique experience for students to see how educational theories and practices are applied in real life contexts. Students will benefit from international experience as they investigate the psychology of education and the science of assessment. Group discussions, guest speakers, and excursions to cultural and educational venues provide a variety of learning experiences in this unique course. Six credit hours: EPSY 3153 & EDUC 3183, or EPSY 3803 & EDUC 3203, or Grad EDUC 5083 & EDUC 6903

English – Shakespeare In London

This course is an experience-based exploration of the life and work of William Shakespeare from historical, textual, critical, and performance perspectives. In addition to lecture/discussion, class experiences will include site visits, workshops, guest lectures, and live performances. In this course, you will: (1) explore and examine the historical context of Shakespeare's life and works (2) acquire and utilize an understanding of Shakespearean textual production and reproduction (3) master and apply basic terms and techniques of Shakespearean criticism (4) consider and articulate your views on the variety and impact of Shakespearean performance, both historically and in contemporary English culture. Six credit hours: ENGL 4716, or ENGL 5773 & 5003

Exercise Physiology

This course will allow students to investigate preventative healthcare through exercise programming in the U.K. Healthcare professionals in both the U.K. and the U.S. are urged to prescribe "exercise medicine." Thus, exercise physiologists are primed to play a key role in the development of the exercise prescriptions for the prevention and treatment of chronic disease as well as general fitness and sport performance. Students will determine the level of exercise physiological adaptation as a medical treatment for prevention and treatment of chronic diseases. Six semester hours: EXPH 4936 & 5936

Fine Arts – Photography and Print Making in Great Britain

Graphic Design with an International Perspective and Topics in Studio Art. This course will explore the historical British roots and the intersection of the art disciplines of printmaking and photography. Field trips to Print Club London, the Tate Britain and Tate Modern, Getty Images, and the British Library will support this historical perspective. This course will meet with printmakers and photographers of international prominence. Fieldwork and studio work will be a daily practice of this course. Students will create an exchange portfolio culminating in a series of prints exhibited at MSU Texas. Six credit hours: ART 4123 & 4543

History – World War II

Because of the unique history of London and all of England during World War II, this course will focus on the major military, political, and social issues surrounding the war with particular emphasis on the European Theatre. The class will rely on a mix of scholarly lectures, class discussion, and historical field trips. Churchill's underground bunker in London, the Imperial War Museum, and former allied air fields will be the centerpiece of field experiences that supplement lectures and guest speakers. Six credit hours: HIST 4933 & 4953, or HIST 5003 & 5003

Mass Communication – Comparative Mass Media

In many ways, British media have historically served as models for American media. Early book publishing, newspapers, advertising, public relations and other forms of media were adapted in the United States, and now for 300+ years media in both countries have influenced each other. This course will give students an introduction to various forms of British media and would give them an opportunity to see the similarities and differences in the ways they function, interact with their audiences, and influence the societies in which they operate. Six credit hours: MCOM 3503 & 3513

Public Health – Determinants of Health Disparities – A Comparative International Perspective

This course will compare the healthcare needs and public health services in various countries. Physical, relational, social and environmental determinants of health will be investigated. Health disparities among vulnerable populations, as well as advocacy efforts on their behalf, will be studied. Emerging infectious diseases will be identified and intervention strategies explored. The role of prevention in health promotion will be emphasized. Guest lecturers, field trips to public health organizations and museums, and tours related to the history of public health in London will enhance this study abroad experience. Six credit hours: HSAD 4006 & 5006

Sociology – British Culture & Society

This course will take a comparative institutional approach to understanding British culture and society. That is, we will be comparing social institutions in Britain (e.g. government, marriage/families, media, religion, sport, etc.) with our knowledge and understanding of those institutions in the U.S. Other topics to be examined comparatively are sexuality, gender, immigration, deviance/criminality, and even the culture of food. As learning sociologists, we will investigate a new land using our "sociological imagination" to understand those social phenomena which are normally difficult to uncover due to their everyday nature. Our modes of investigation will include first-hand experience, class reading and discussion, expert lectures, and field trips. Six credit hours: SOCL 4883 & 4893
