UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH ALABAMA POLICY AND PROCEDURE FOR CONTRACT SERVICES

INTRODUCTION

To enhance daily business operations and services of the University, contract services may be necessary when specific professional or para-professional services are not readily available through current University resources. Services will be reviewed PRIOR to being performed to determine independent contractor or employee status as defined by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). Bona fide independent contractor services will be paid through Accounts Payable with earnings reported on IRS Form 1099.

CONTRACTOR/EMPLOYEE FACTORS

An individual is considered an employee if the individual providing services is subject to the will, control, and direction of the service recipient. The IRS has established twenty criteria to consider when determining if an individual is an employee. Examples of these criteria are: instruction and training required; who sets hours of work; is work performed on service recipient's premises; who furnishes tools and materials; does individual provide services to more than one firm. Based on the nature of the work, if any criteria are met, the individual may be considered an employee.

PROCEDURE

PRIOR to utilizing an independent contractor service, an Authorization to Provide Services (APS) form must be completed and processed through administrative channels to Human Resources and the Tax Accounting Office, which will review each request to determine independent contractor/employee status and method of payment/employment to be used. If independent contractor status is approved, a photocopy of the APS form must be attached to each applicable payment request. Approvals for independent contractor services are valid for 12 months only.

Once approved, method of payment will be designated, and the service may be performed. Generally, bona fide independent contractor services will be paid by requisition. Employee services, primarily secretarial/clerical, of short duration (not to exceed 30 days) should be requested through a temporary agency. Intermittent but recurring employee services should be processed through Human Resources for proper posting and recruitment.

Instructional Services:

Non-credit instructional services determined to be contract services will generally be paid by requisition. Payment for non-credit instructional services provided by an individual not currently employed by the University, and determined to be an employee service, should be submitted on an Academic Personnel Action form using object code 122. Payment for credit instructional services to an individual who is not a current USA employee should be submitted on an Academic Personnel Action form using object code 129. Instructional services provided by a current USA employee should be submitted on an Academic Personnel Action form using object code 125.

Student Services:

Payment for services performed by an individual currently enrolled as a USA student will normally be submitted on a Student Personnel Action form. Payment for services performed by a current USA Graduate Assistant for services outside the graduate assistantship may be submitted by requisition. The APS form should only be completed if payment is intended as an independent contractor. All services provided by USA students must conform to the Personnel Policy for Student Employees. Requests for payment and questions concerning student employment should be directed to the Office of Enrollment Services.

Employee Services:

Departments should not obtain services from employees assigned to other departments to avoid conflict with the University's policy concerning work in excess of one full-time equivalent (FTE) position and the State Ethics Law. Payments for all approved services performed by employees, with the exception of services as test subjects for sponsored research, will be paid through the University payroll system.
